

V is for Volunteers!

How does one begin to describe our volunteers? One or more words simply can't do it. One might begin with versatile, vibrant, valuable, venturesome, vigilant, vigorous, valiant and visionary.

Versatile, they seem to be able to pick up any task and go with it. Vigilant, they see needs and areas that might be overlooked. Venturesome, they attempt creative solutions. Vigorous, their energy picks up where ours might have grown weary. Our volunteers are valuable and valued, and their ministry is vital to CSLA. We thank them from the bottom of our hearts!

C.S. Lewis Student Honored at State Fair

Thirteen elementary students were honored at the Oregon State Fair, Sunday, August 30th, for their artwork about Oregon agriculture. Theses thirteen winning essays were featured in the Agriculture in the Classroom 2009-2010 school year calendar.

This year 1,629 pictures from students in 25 counties across the state were submitted and our own Elon Grobey, from Mrs. Natvig's 4th grade class, was a winner!

Elon's artwork of "Oregon Seafood" is featured in the calendar for the month of January. Great work Elon, we are proud of you!
