

“The Shack” Author to Speak at Banquet

Paul Young, author of The Shack will be our speaker at the fall banquet this year. The banquet will be held at the Tualatin Country Club on November 17.

The Shack is a story of a man’s struggle with life’s tragedies and his personal encounter with God. Several of us around CSLA have had the opportunity to read it and the central comment heard over and over again is how gripping the book is and how it gives its readers a new and somewhat refreshing view of who God is. The Shack is now available in bookstores if you would like to obtain a copy and read it before the banquet.

The purpose of our annual banquet is three-fold. First we always love the opportunity for our families to get together for a fun evening out, including a nice, free meal and excellent fellowship. Secondly, we want to provide people the opportunity to become financial supporters of the school, whether through a one-time gift or monthly contribution commitment, but please understand, if you come you do not have to give. We don’t want anybody to not come because they feel obligated to give. We just want you there. Thirdly, it is an opportunity for people who don’t know a lot about our school to come spend an evening getting to know us. By meeting our families, viewing the student presentations, and hearing a short word from our Superintendent, visitors acquire a good sense of what our school is all about.

We hope to see you there!
